MUD
02

The first-floor laundry/mudroom follows much of the theme of this modern farmhouse on Torch Lake, particularly the nearby red, white and black kitchen. The entrance to the room is through a sliding red barn door. Transitional cabinetry in bright white provides an accent, and tall architectural windows flood this busy area with light. Metallic tile lines the walls; hand-crafted metallic grass cloth reaches above the cabinets to the ceiling. The counters and sink are warm soapstone. The homeowners are both veterinarians so doggy-details mattered. Stone tiles hide foot traffic, including muddy paws, and the subway backsplash, concrete countertops and dark farmhouse sink allow for quick cleanups. 🐾
